City's Greatest Day Stirs Entire Valley

Staff Special to The Daily Courier

VERNON — The "Big Moment" is at hand.

For the first time in the colorful 67-year history of this thriving metropolis, a reigning monarch is about to visit Vernon.

And these North Okanaganites are prepared to throw out the Red Carpet of Welcome.

City public works crews have been working around the clock tidying up streets and boulevards; merchants are feverishly putting last minute touches to decorations; flags and bunting have been erected on electric light standards, and 700-odd army cadets are applying "spit and polish" to their buttons in preparation for meeting their Queen.

There's a feeling of excitement in the air. Already the first lot of visitors have arrived and a special billeting committee is in action.

And while accommodation and eating facilities will be taxed to capacity, officials emphasize everyone will be looked after comfortably.

Thanks to the efforts of co-ordinating chairman Jack Monk, smooth-working committees have been set up to take care of any emergency. Every minute detail has been looked after.

Mounting enthusiasm will burst wide open when the royal train slowly pulls into Vernon's railway station sharp at 10 a.m. Saturday. And during the 70 minutes the Queen and Prince Philip will visit this North Okanagan city, they will participate in a jam-packed program.

Spectators are advised to be in their positions no later than 9 a.m.

And Kelownians planning to make the trip to Vernon are again reminded that Highway 7 will be closed at 9:30 a.m. eight miles south of Vernon. Traffic will be routed over the old Kelowna road which winds its way to Vernon via the Commonage.

The highway will not be reopened until after the Royal Couple return to the railway station a few minutes after 11 a.m.

Scouts, Girl Guides, army cadets—in fact children of all ages, will be given the fullest opportunity of seeing the Royal Couple. Apart from the introduction of VIP's at Polson Park—and these have been kept to a minimum—the official welcome program has been designed to give the Queen and Prince Philip a chance to mingle with the children who will be lined up around the flag-decked dais in colorful Polson Park.

Work parties started decorating the dais this afternoon, and during the early morning hours of Saturday, flowers will be suitably arranged.

For the first time in Vernon's history, the Royal Ensign will be flying above the mast. A color party from the Royal Canadian Navy will break the Ensign just as the Royal Couple enter Polson Park.

Justice Minister E. Davie Fulton, accompanying the Royal party, will introduce Mayor and Mrs. Frank F. Becker and Lt.-Col. W. G. A. Lambe, commander of the Vernon Military Camp, and Mrs. Lambe after the train arrives at the station at 10 a.m. Queen Scouts from all points in the valley, will form the Guard of Honor.

Royal Canadian Navy Cadets from Penticton, Kelowna, and Vernon, will form the guard of honor around the dais. Arrangements have been made to accommodate the special cadet party at the military camp.

Ogo Heads North To See Elizabeth

You can't keep Ogoogo away from visitors, R. H. Banks and his son when the Queen and Prince are coming to the Okanagan—not by a darned sight!

Ogo was seen this morning heading north towards Vernon, where Queen Elizabeth and Prince Philip are due to make their appearance tomorrow morning.

The lake monster, who has a habit of showing himself upon occasions such as the royal visit, was seen at 8 o'clock about one-third of a mile offshore from Trepur Bay, north of Peachland. Witnesses this morning were A. M. Moore, proprietor of the Trepur Bay Cottages summer resort, and two North Vancouver visitors, R. H. Banks and his son Thomas.

The two North Vancouverites now join the swelling ranks of the I-Saw-Ogoogo-Club but to Mr. Moore seeing Ogoogo is nothing new.

"I've seen Ogoogo three times now," said Mr. Moore by telephone from Trepur. "I've been a confirmed believer for some time."

Mr. Moore said that with the gleaming sunlight and the distance from shore, Ogoogo was difficult to describe. But the witnesses did see three distinct humps and a "large wake" as Ogo slipped his (or her) way sort, and two North Vancouver towards Vernon.

SUNNY OKANAGAN WEATHER PROMISED FOR ROYAL VISIT

Typical July weather enveloped the Okanagan this week to provide a sunny welcome for Queen Elizabeth and Prince Philip.

Yesterday's maximum temperature was the highest so far this year and there is every indication that yesterday's 86 will be exceeded today. A high of 88 is predicted.

The weatherman sees nothing but clear skies for the royal visit tomorrow, with the maximum predicted pretty close to 90.

FORECAST: Sunny and warm today and Saturday, light winds, Low tonight and high Saturday: 55 and 90.

Vernon Empire Capital For Eighty Minutes

VERNON — This North Okanagan city will be the capital of the Commonwealth for 80 minutes Saturday. The transformation will result from the arrival of the Queen. This is the first time in history a reigning sovereign has visited Vernon.

ROYAL FAMILY SOUVENIRS

Nephew of Palace Housekeeper Here

By ALBERT DENEGRIE
(Courier Staff Writer)

The impending visit to the Okanagan of Queen Elizabeth and Prince Philip arouses memories of a Kelowna man who spent three days in London's Buckingham Palace, home of the reigning monarch, where he was a guest of his aunt, the housekeeper for the late King George V and Queen Mary.

William "Nobby" Clark, 740 Gulsachan Road, former B.C. Provincial Police constable and now part-time night man at the RCMP office, still has many valuable souvenirs handed down since the death of his aunt, Miss Ann Clark.

In press clippings from London at the time of her death, Miss Clark was referred to as "practically a member of the royal family's inner circle" and "Mummy" to the Prince of Wales (now the Duke of Windsor) and ex-King Edward VIII.

STARTED IN 1893
She entered the service of King George V in 1893, the year after he was made the Duke of York and married Princess May of Teck.

She took up residence with the royal couple at York House, where her first duty was to arrange for the selection and duties of their staff of servants.

Later, at Buckingham Palace, her responsibilities included supervision of over 40 servants.

On one of these occasions—so long ago he can't remember the year—Mr. Clark of Kelowna visited.

The Prince of Wales stopped in Sicamous and Salmon Arm in 1919. The late King George VI and the Queen Mother visited the same communities in 1939, and last year Her Royal Highness Princess Margaret was welcomed in Vernon and Kelowna.

While she was a princess, Queen Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh stopped in Sicamous in 1951.

Her Majesty's visit has activated a pride in tradition and decorum. The city virtually blossomed in less than a month.

DAILY DECORATED

Flags colored the city streets, roads have been black-topped, lawns and gardens groomed and luntings festoon newly-painted homes and public buildings.

The Queen will not see ornate buildings, nor will there be a reception in a government garden. Instead she will see a city brushed, scrubbed and ecstatic.

The Queen will be welcomed not only by citizens of Vernon, but by almost 45,000 visitors.

"We extend a warm welcome to everyone," Mayor Frank F. Becker declared today.

"The Queen is visiting this city to see the citizens of central B.C. It is an honor shared with everyone in this area."

The three-ton limousine which the Queen and Prince Philip will use during their stay in British Columbia has arrived here, after

Driver Unhurt, Car Demolished At Toll Gate

An unidentified man had a narrow escape Thursday night when his auto apparently went out of control on the western approach to the Okanagan Lake Bridge.

The car, a Washington state vehicle, is said to be a total loss. The vehicle is said to have struck a light standard and travelled 140 feet before coming to rest near the toll gate.

The driver reportedly walked away from the crash uninjured.

BANFF, Alta. (CP) — The Queen went to work today as usual.

The place was Banff and the scenery out of the ordinary but it was a day much like all Royal Tour days, filled with handshakes with officials, smiles and waves for throngs lining plain streets and gathered at ordinary railway stations, airports factory or school, a few apt human schedule, does have time to relax, however.

North Okanagan's Oldest Resident Says Queen's "A Lovely Child!"

By W. BEAVER-JONES
Daily Courier Staff Writer

VERNON — The North Okanagan's oldest resident is "not too excited" in meeting Her Majesty Queen Elizabeth.

But Mrs. Annie Bigland readily admits "She's a lovely child!" Mrs. Bigland, who celebrated her 100th birthday on April 26, will be introduced to the Royal Couple at the Polson Park ceremony Saturday morning.

The silver-haired centenarian, who actually looks 50 years younger in age, nevertheless considers it an honor to be presented to The Queen. Reason for her not being "too excited" is the fact she used to be in "Gentlemen's Service."

"I was used to mixing with aristocracy," Mrs. Bigland said. "They are the easiest people to work with."

Despite her age, Mrs. Bigland is enjoying the best of health. Her husband, a professional landscape gardener, died in 1928 in Vernon. He was responsible for laying out the cenotaph grounds.

Three of her five children are living. One son died when a baby, and the other was drowned when the Empress of Ireland was rammed in the St. Lawrence River in May, 1914. Mrs. Bigland at present resides with her daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Hill, 2601 30th Avenue.

Two other daughters, Mrs. A. E. Newell and Mrs. Alexander, live in Vancouver and Ladysmith, respectively.

Married in 1887, Mrs. Bigland came to Canada in 1911, and has lived in Vernon ever since. She was born near Urruhart, Scotland, a little village outside of Loxnessmouth, where Prince Philip went to school.

What does Mrs. Bigland attribute her ripe old age to?

"Don't eat much and keep away from the doctor!"

Rutland Scouts In Royal Guard

RUTLAND—A number of Rutland Scouts are planning to attend the ceremonies in Vernon in connection with the Queen's visit. The Queen's Scouts are to form a special guard-of-honor at the railway station, and the local troop expects to have five or six boys in this group.

Wood, who was not entered Monday, took the lead with 206 points, the highest mark posted so far in the Stampede in any event this year.

He overtook Keith Hyland of Black Diamond, Alta., who had gone into an early lead with 206 points Monday but was not entered Tuesday. Bob Robinson of Rockland, Idaho, moved into third spot with 201.

QUEEN

Following the park ceremony, the Royal Couple will drive to the military camp, where army cadets will put on a series of displays.

Due to the time limit, the Queen and Philip will not drive to the Kalamalka lookout, as had been originally planned.

Perhaps the most excited person is 11-year-old Brenda Brown, who will present a bouquet to the Queen. And equally excited are Wolf Cubs Warren Otway and Terry Mori, who will present a gift to His Royal Highness. The type of gift has not been disclosed, but, according to Vernon officials, the Duke "will be pleased."

Another colorful Vernon resident who will be introduced to Mer Majesty, is a centenarian, Mrs. Annie Bigland, who, during the course of an interview with The Courier, admitted she is "not too excited." (See story on page 2) Mrs. Bigland celebrated her 100th birthday on April 26.

Credits for the herculean task of organizing the Royal Visit plans, must go to ex-alderman Jack Monk. The co-ordinating chairman has been working around-the-clock for the past two weeks, making sure that every detail has been looked after.

"Everything is in readiness. All we need now is the co-operation of the Weatherman," remarked a tired but enthusiastic Mr. Monk.

The Royal Couple will have barely left Vernon, when another celebration—the splashiest in the city's history, will get underway. Saturday afternoon marks the beginning of an entertainment-packed four-day celebration. Parades, horse racing, a spectacular aquatic show, street and square dancing and a gigantic fireworks display are part of the action-packed program.

For Vernon, it's the biggest event that's taken place in this thriving city in the history of the municipality.

POSSSESSIONS DIVIDED
Her possessions—she was quite well-to-do at the time of her death—including many precious stones, went to her only brother, J. R. Clark, in Vancouver, the father of Mr. Clark of Kelowna.

When Mr. Clark's father died, the possessions went to his mother, and upon her death, were divided among the four children.

Among these possessions were the first pictorial book the Queen gave to the Prince of Wales, and scores of letters, postcards and photographs revealing the inner life of the King and Queen, the events of the youth of the Prince of Wales and his brothers and his sister, Princess Mary.

The limousine also will be used for the Kamloops visit next Tuesday.

The car will be returned here Wednesday and flown to Vancouver for use during the coastal section of the B.C. tour.

It was learned here today that the Queen has decided that the pony presented to her by Windsor, Ont., last week will be given to a child in Windsor, England.

She has expressed her wish in a letter to an official in Windsor, informants said. He is forming a special committee to invite Windsor children to write saying why they think they should have the pony and describe how they would look after it.

The Queen and Philip have visited the Banff School of Fine

Arts and are driving to Lake Louise and then to Field, B.C., today, when they will board the royal train for Golden and Revelstoke.

Meanwhile Canadian Press sources reported today that Britain's Ministry has announced strict new air rules covering flights by members of the Royal Family.

The new rules set up traffic-free "purple airways" from Aug. 1 for flights taken by the Queen, Prince Philip, the Queen Mother, Prince Charles, Princess Anne and Princess Margaret.

No special procedures are planned for flights by other members of the Royal Family though they may be adopted for visits by other reigning sovereigns or foreign dignitaries.

The restrictions will be applied to successive sectors of a route rather than for the whole period of the flight.

No plane will be permitted within the air space of a "purple airway" from 15 minutes before a royal aircraft is scheduled to enter it until three minutes after it is scheduled to leave.

School Board To Press For Building Loan Despite Poor Market Situation

The Kelowna school board will stick to its request for a $619,000 building referendum, in spite of provincial government warnings of a bad borrowing situation at present.

At Thursday night's meeting of the trustees, a letter was read from L. R. Peterson, minister of education, quoting "the poor bond market, and high interest rate."

The letter included a statement by Premier W. A. C. Bennett, further cautioning against unnecessary spending. Mr. Peterson appealed for utilization of all present usable classroom space.

ROOM NECESSARY
Secretary Fred Macklin concurred there was a "very difficult money situation," at present. He added, however, all available space was in use in this district. The proposed Glenmore junior high school in particular was a necessity, Mr. Macklin said. "Otherwise we will have to double shift the pupils." Trustee J. R. Hume declared the Kelowna referendum was already cut to the minimum, and the board would not have asked for the projects they did had the trustees not deemed them necessary.

"Education," Mr. Hume continued, "is always the first to feel the squeeze when there is a tight money situation."

"We should fight for what we want—we wouldn't ask for it if we didn't need it."

Mrs. E. R. Pelley said: "If we stop now, we will be back to church basements again."

"We should carry on in our attempt to get this referendum," agreed A. G. Pollard. "Nothing we have asked for can be considered less than urgent."

"We do not ask for palaces," said Mr. Hume. "All we want is proper facilities."

Kevin Upholds Golfing Lore Of McGladerys

The McGladerys still are making golf news, with a younger member of the former Kelowna family carrying on the tradition established by his father, Sam McGladery.

Referred to in the Vancouver Sun as the "mighty mite from Maple Ridge", 13-year-old Kevin McGladery recently captured low net honors in the provincial 15-and-under class. Handicap for Kevin, the smallest-sized entry in the field, was certified by professional Doug McAlpine.

An ardent golfer, like his father and his older brother, Sam Jr., Kevin spent hundreds of hours at the Kelowna course in the summer taking lessons from his father, several times Kelowna Golf Club champion and club senior champion.

In Tuesday's Sun, Kevin was shown in a four-column sports page picture blasting his way out of a sand trap during the opening round of the B.C. Junior Golf Championship. He scored a "fine 87" but was far back going into today's (Tuesday) final round at Marine Drive golf course," the caption stated.

Guest Speaker Exemplifies Snake Address With Rattler

By Courier Correspondent

RUTLAND—James Burbridge was guest speaker at the monthly supper meeting of the Rutland Board of Trade Wednesday, in the fire hall annex. The speaker is an authority on the wild life of B.C. and spoke about the snakes of this province.

He told of the precautions necessary to protect oneself against the rattlesnake, illustrating his talk with an exhibit of a live rattler.

President Hugh Fitzpatrick reported upon the visit of a local delegation to the provincial cabinet meeting in Salmon Arm, where they met with Highway Minister Gagliardi and discussed the need for further improvements to the Carml road, a potential alternate highway to the Kootenays and to Spokane.

SPORTS CAR MEET

Plans for a sports car meet in the Rutland area were also discussed with the minister, and the proposed route to be used. Meetings with Conservation Minister Westwood regarding the local parks, and with Provincial Secretary Black regarding the matter of zoning (reported to the executive meeting last week) were also outlined to the general meeting.

Plans for entering the Rutland Board of Trade float in the Regatta parade were announced, and a special committee headed by Mr. Fitzpatrick, is in charge of this. No general meeting will be held in August.

MORE READERS IN VALLEY BRANCHES

Recently released regional library statistics in B.C. show that the Okanagan, with about $4,000 less in income than Vancouver Island, still had spent more for books, periodicals and repairs to books than did the Island branches.

Registered borrowers in the Okanagan Regional Library last year were 34,630 compared with 19,818 for the entire Vancouver Island Regional Library, which serves a population of 83,400. Okanagan population was given as 82,003. Circulation in the Okanagan was given as 577,875, compared with the Island's 519,849.

A release given out by the library board revealed that the subject of closure was discussed when the board met at Summerland Wednesday.

One advantage of closing the smaller branches would be that readers would, in the overall, have a wider selection of books in the larger centres. However, it was decided that the disadvantages over-ruled any advantages.

The board granted raises in salaries to members of the headquarters staff to bring their pay into line with other libraries in the province.

NEW BUILDING
Where there were new buildings in use, as is the case in several areas, it was learned that library interest accelerated.

Consequently, the board is hopeful that new buildings could be found for other centres. Attending the board meeting at Summerland, chaired by John Fowler of Spallumcheen, were the following members: Ald. W. H. Whimster, representing Penticton; Mrs. Leslie Balla, Penticton school district; Mrs. Dorothy

Barnes, Keremcos; C. J. Morawaldine Coursler, Vernon; R. J. row, Salmon Arm village; E. G. Marshall, Glenmore; Mrs. C. W. Broeder, Salmon Arm district; Altkens, Peachland; C. R. Bull, municipality; T. H. Elliott, Salmon Arm school district; J. Johnson, Enderby, and the hostels, Y. French, Armstrong; Ald. Ger-

FRIDAY, JULY 10, 1959

"Guide The Queen . . . And Bless The Land . . ."

The Queen of Canada has come to her subjects and all over the Dominion she is receiving a warm and enthusiastic welcome. Tomorrow the Okanagan greets her during her visit to Vernon.

The growing frequency of Royal tours through the Commonwealth cannot fail to bear fruitful results. Before the visit of King George VI in 1939, no Canadians, unless he went abroad, ever saw the reigning monarch. Now personal contact has given us a direct interest in the Throne and we have come to feel that its present charming occupant is our Queen quite as much as she is Queen of the United Kingdom.

A further benefit of Her Majesty's journey through Canada is that it strengthens the ties that united the British family of nations. At ordinary times, the diverse and farflung countries that make up the Commonwealth are little more than names in newspapers. But when the head of the family pays us a visit, we feel a stronger sense of kinship with the interracial brotherhood of which the Queen is the unifying force.

Much has been said and written about the value of this union of free peoples in the contemporary world. It has frequently been asserted that the Commonwealth and its Queen offer a valuable antidote to the defeatist spirit of our times and provide on a heartening assurance that a world that founded in freedom and international law is not an impossible dream.

Frequently some argue that Canada should join the United States. Our common economic and political interests are stressed and heavy emphasis is placed on the necessity of meeting the threat of invasion with an unbroken military front.

However those who argue thus ignore one important fact. If the senior and by far the most influential of the Dominions became part of the American Union, it would sound the death knell of the Commonwealth. This, we are persuaded, would result in disastrous consequences for the rest of the world.

The foreign ministers' conference at Geneva, with its dismal story of irreconcilable viewpoints, has brought to the fore one of the most baffling problems of our day: how to achieve even the appearance of co-operation in international affairs. The United Nations Organization is united only in name. Divergent political systems and conflicting national interests have erected seemingly insuperable barriers. But in this divided and distracted world there is one fraternity of nations with an impressive record of harmonious co-operation. It is made up of one-quarter of the earth's population with men of varied race, creed, color and language.

Like every normal family the Commonwealth nations have their disagreements, even quarrels. But these are never too serious and they have had remarkable success in composing their differences. Unlike the Soviet's empire they are not held together by armies of occupation or threats of punitive action. They stay together because they like it that way and they have a shining symbol of unity in Her Majesty the Queen.

If the Commonwealth should ever dissolve, the world's struggle for unity would sustain a tragic setback. It would appear therefore that anyone who helps to consolidate this family of nations supports a powerful influence for peace which the world cannot afford to lose.

The immense importance of the Queen becomes apparent when it is recognized that the Throne is the linchpin that holds the Commonwealth together. It is significant that while several member states have adopted the republican form of government, they have continued to recognize the Queen as head of the Commonwealth.

Our American friends are often puzzled by the value we attach to the monarchy. They look on kings and queens as undemocratic survivals of the feudal age. They do not seem to understand the very practical purpose served in having, as the head of the state, one who has not engaged in controversy or supplanted a rival to gain that exalted position.

In contrast to an elected chief executive, the queen holds aloof from politics, welds together conflicting groups and commands undivided support of all the people. Without the Queen there would be no Commonwealth and our world would be infinitely the poorer.

Judging by the character of our sovereigns since Queen Victoria, we will retain the monarchy for a long time to come. We have loved and trusted our kings and queens, not because they were the wisest people in the realm, but because they have embodied in their persons all the virtues we respect.

We are particularly fortunate in having, as our present sovereign, an intelligent, dedicated young woman who has won our confidence and affection by her unselfish devotion to duty.

In 1953 addressing the Convocation of the Anglican Church in London, Queen Elizabeth said: "My father had a simple faith in God and sought divine guidance and support in all his undertakings. I earnestly pray that in my endeavors for the well-being of my people, I may also be sustained by the gracious and ready help of our Heavenly Father."

How proud and happy we should be to have a Queen who has declared her religious faith with such winsome sincerity and unmistakable earnestness. The strongest bulwarks of the State are men and women of upright character and capacity for personal sacrifice. We have produced such men and women in the past. If we continue to do so, we need not fear for the future.

It is as sovereign Queen that Canadians acclaim Elizabeth in the panoply and splendor of regal rank. She embodies all that Britain was, is and will, under God, yet become. She is Magna Carta and the rights of men, Sir Francis Drake and the dogged courage of men at sea; she is the great halls of Oxford, where countless generations have sought truth and St. Paul's Cathedral where they sought God; she is Parliament, cradle of western democratic institutions, and Westminster Abbey, sepulchre of England's chosen.

She is the colonizing will that built an empire and the reasonableness which perceived its twilight; she is the open Bible in countless homes, from whose cadence came the earthy vigor of England's tongue, and Shakespeare who brought its beauty to incomparable fruition; she is the gentle rolling hills of an ancient countryside untouched for centuries, and the flaming furnace of an atomic energy plant; she is the pub and the bustle of London's streets, and the grim fortitude of her people under the Nazi blitz.

And all this is only the heartland, whence the lambent glow of a beloved Crown spreads to all corners of the earth.

The grandeur of each human being reflects not only what he is in himself, but what he stands for—the ideals represented, the virtues epitomized, the principles upheld. A man or woman who exists only intrinsically can be said only to exist—a creature of appetite and blind instinct, a dull and bovine clod. Even a Queen therefore has derivative nobility, product of the historic traditions of her people.

In that sense, the young monarch to whom the Okanagan offers heartfelt homage is of incomparable stature, because the mother-nation over which Her Majesty reigns may well claim to be the most truly civilized on earth.

The Queen adds individual nobility to symbolic nobility. She has magnified the lustre of the diadem she wears—a symbol, at its best, is the outward and visible form of an inner spiritual grace.

She possesses simplicity of manner and taste; a regal bearing in which the entire world perceives a kind of consecrated, religious humility; the sacrificial self-dedication with which she fulfills unrelenting responsibilities as constitutional monarch of the free association of peoples centred in Britain.

She has the gift of inner repose and of profound compassion, revealed through the spectacle of a young Queen shaking hands with cured Nigerian lepers and reassuring timid villagers that the danger of infection no longer existed; the affection and love that radiate from Her Majesty's own family circle; the fearless and serene warmth of humanity that marks her travels among the myriad races of her realm.

In all these personal qualities, and more, the Queen illustrates for a large part of the world the underlying unity and common brotherhood which, within the national frame, she embodies for the British nations.

An inevitable decline in the material and political fortunes of Britain has been brought on by the forces of history. It is a noteworthy fact that, despite this, the Throne has never drawn to itself such universal and affectionate regard.

History may well record that a young queen in the mid-Twentieth Century became the rallying point and banner not only of Britain, but a whole host of free communities whose loyalty and stability shaped the ultimate survival of western civilization. Her Majesty has transmuted sovereignty into service, mastery into ministry, and an upraised sceptre into an outstretched hand.

As we greet our Queen the prayer of the Okanagan is:

That the hand of God guard and guide the Queen where'er she walks, and bless the land on which her feet now tread.

THE VITAL LINK

PERSONALLY SPEAKING

By THE VENERABLE D. S. CATCHPOLE

ABUSE OF PRIVILEGE.

Before anyone rises up in defence imagining himself to be attacked, let me say that this is my personal opinion about some things which have been written of late in various papers and journals. I am attacking the Abuse of Privilege and that privilege lies in the hands of those who have the chance to do something good by use of the written word.

I hold no brief for a certain singer and piano player (I am not even certain that he sings) but when a columnist abuses his privilege and says or implies filthy things about that man, then I think it is high time that someone described the writer in terms which should leave no possible doubt whatever that he is the scum of the earth. It is too much to hope that this Cassara fellow would ever read my opinion of him, but I want to take this opportunity to condemn this abuse of privilege.

Presumably reputable magazines, I understand, in this country have been making ill-mannered comments about the visit of royalty to Canada. I think it is high time that someone disowned these writers. Royalty can please no one; it seems. If royalty does not show itself, it is condemned as Queen Victoria was condemned when she went into retirement upon the death of the Prince Consort. If royalty makes a periodic visit to Canada, one of the most important parts of the Commonwealth, ill-natured people write things which must make even a Queen sick at heart, for she cannot talk back. She must let the words stay and rely on decent people to condemn this abuse of privilege, this cowardly method of attack upon a defenceless person who seeks only to do her best.

The other day, following upon what I, personally, consider to be a scandalous editorial from the Vancouver Province, which I have usually regarded as a reputable paper, in which there was advocated the resorting to sweepstakes, a minister whom I do not know and with whom I do not probably not normally agree, wrote a letter objecting to the editorial. His letter was answered by four others, no doubt collecting over several days, in which the writers expressed themselves in puerile fashion. At this I express no surprise, for most people who write to the papers give themselves over to comments of this nature. What did annoy me was a caption by the Province people that opinion was swinging over to the paper's side. That the Province should use these puerile examples to indicate that public opinion was swinging over to the position that sweepstakes are desired by the citizens of this Province and of Canada is as bare-faced a bit of abuse of privilege as I have ever seen.

The press, in my opinion, has a very important work to do. It is to present news and to express opinions, usually those of men judged to be fit to occupy the editorial chair. It is a privilege to be trusted to do this work. It is an abuse of this privilege when a writer is allowed to say filthy things about a private citizen, or when cowardly attacks are made in public print upon the Queen, or when an attempt is made by secular-minded men upon high standards of honesty, yes, and morality. Sweepstakes are a cheap and dishonest expedient used by people who want to gamble, to make a fast buck at little cost to themselves. They are initiated by greed and without any desire whatever to help hospitals or anyone else. They can be counted upon to destroy the national conscience which should have very close to it the care for the sick. The hypocrisy of the advocates is perfectly obvious but the sickening thing which should disgust all decent people is the abuse of privilege, the privilege to influence people to walk along worthy paths.

Brazil Socialists Divided On New President Issue

By FRED L. STROZIER

RIO DE JANEIRO (AP)—The campaign to choose a new president of Brazil already has split the Socialist party (PSB) although election day is 15 months away.

The left-wing branch of the party has endorsed Marshal Henrique Teixeira Lott, war minister and strongman behind President Juscelino Kubitschek. The more conservative wing has pledged its support to a middle-of-the-road candidate, Janio Quadros.

Quadros has a good reform record for cleaning up the city of Sao Paulo as its mayor and the state of Sao Paulo as its governor.

LEFTIST YOKE
If Lott accepts the nomination of the leftist Rio-based Socialists for president he will have to carry a heavy burden of extreme left-wing doctrine. The party passed a resolution offering him its support if he would support the Socialist platform.

That platform calls for Brazil to denounce all military agreements with the United States; take back Fernando Noronha Island, where the U.S. maintains a base for tracking guided missiles; halt the transfer of profits abroad; give workers the right to help manage state-owned companies; nationalize all power companies and other public utilities; legalize the Communist party and re-establish relations with all Communist countries, and expropriate all big landholdings.

Lott is considered certain to seek a campaign closer to the middle of the road because he expects the nomination of Kubitschek's Social Democratic Party (PSD).

VERNON — Silk, cotton, chiffon and organza in pastel shades, fashioned to please a Queen, have been chosen for the Royal Visit.

Mrs. F. F. Becker, wife of Vernon's mayor, who with her husband will welcome Queen Elizabeth, has selected a figured sheath dress in soft shades of brown, beige and tangerine, colors which will be repeated in her accessories.

Mrs. W. G. A. Lambe, who with her husband Lieut.-Col. Lambe, also will take part in the initial reception, has chosen tones of mauve and violet for a printed frock and short matching coat. A wig hat covered with violets, shoes entone and white gloves will complete Mrs. Lambe's outfit.

Alderman Geraldine Coursier will wear a flowered sheath of heavy silk in a smoke blue shade with matching three-quarter length duster lined with identical printed silk. Her accessories will include a smoke blue model straw hat, white gloves and pumps.

Wives of Vernon aldermen will be seated near the Royal dais, and Mrs. Charles McDowell has chosen for the occasion, a slim cotton sheath in pastel green, featuring a large white organza GLENMORE — A number of property owners in the commercial zone on Glenmore Drive met in the municipal office Wednesday evening with Reeve Moubray and Dick Stewart, chairman of the town planning committee, to discuss possible rezoning of the properties in question. Several owners felt that a frontage zoning would be adequate. The various views and opinions will be studied at a regular council meeting in the near future.

Started At Eleven Has Since Painted High Officials

MONTREAL (CP) — Auburn-haired Brenda Bury says painting is a disease.

"Unless I paint a portrait a week I don't feel well," the British-born Miss Bury said in an interview.

She came to Canada two years ago from her native Yorkshire, where her portrait work is done on commission.

Prime Minister Diefenbaker was among her subjects. Others included a series of directors-general of the Canadian Medical Corps for Defence Headquarters in Ottawa.

Miss Bury said she enjoys painting high - ranked officials particularly, though she finds any type of portrait work fun.

GOOD SITTERS

"I've never found a dull one. People who are confident of themselves and what they can do make good sitters. They do not face indecision in their own characters."

She said many successful men have great demands on their time make good sitters.

"They sit for an hour, let us say, and give their full attention to it. They do not fidget."

But she has found no subject easy to paint, technically, and children specifically were difficult.

Frequently I feel sorry for children, though," she said. They usually have to be bribed to sit and they may end up by being threatened.

Miss Bury was asked if she thought vainly prompted some to have their portraits done.

"I don't like painting people who are just vain. But I believe the desire to be perpetuated is not vanity. It's a fundamental human trait."

LASTING RECORD

"After all a photograph is only a temporary record of a given time in the life of a subject. A portrait capturing the essential character is lasting."

Miss Bury was 11 when she did her first portrait. At school, she painted her teachers and fellow students, but she said: "I'm afraid some of them were near caricatures."

She said that in painting she has learned more from her failures than successes. But she invariably destroyed her failures, nonetheless.

When she finds difficulty with a particular portrait, she consoles herself by recalling that the great Picasso once had 118 sittings with a subject to do a single portrait.

She said he finally scrubbed out all his work—and painted the portrait from memory.

After a portrait is finished, how does she react to the subject's comments?

"It's worse when there are no comments," she said.

Hank's Hardwood Sets The Trend

Hanks' tired of hearing about it and Leo Petty. Tension swung one from the shoe laces in the eighth and had Hank Tostenon, stepped into the line of Jim Staff's offerings last night for the three-run homer over the fence, 345 feet from the plate, to aid his club in downing league-leading Vernon Carlings 12-2 last night.

Ray Scott came up with some one clutch pitching for the Labs, striking out ten in the route, but it was at the plate that the Labs had to win, and they were wearing a 1-0 deficit when Hank slammed it over the fence, setting the scene for the victory.

FINCH HITTERS

Manager Vern Dye threw in himself, Tony De Rosa, John Kashuba, Willie Schmidt and Ken Kulack in an effort to coax some runs out of Scott, but failed to crack the support.

Jack Wheelhouse, one of the valley's itinerant ball players, came up with a two-for-five effort at the plate and sparked a first-inning double play, Wheelhouse-Adams-Keckalo on Hromi Kelowna.

VERNON LED

Errors put Kulack on base in the first and he was scored by Blummet before the side retired, giving Vernon a 1-0 lead.

Hanks' homer scored Frank Fritz and Greg Jablonski in the fourth, and Hank led off with a single in the sixth, scoring on an error. Wayne North and John Culos got on board with an error and a walk, scored by Leo's single to right field, and the game was tied in the bag, as Vernon only relied once.

The Labs will have another chance to fatten Saturday night against the Trail Smoke Eaters, although the Kootenay club have proven to be giant-killers this year.

Aces Beat Summerland Gals In Runaway Softball Win

The Aces overpowered the Summerland girls, 17-3 last night, to continue their field that was bobbled and long win skin in valley softball. Aces started right out in the top.

Burly Phyllis Ramsey allowed only one hit in her four innings, runs in a sweep through the bat for the Aces, a singleton Homer, and they never looked back.

The Aces, shooting for the interior crown again this year, will host Summerland Tuesday, and Kowalski shared the chucking for Summerland, giving the Aces a 16-11 victory.

Mary Welder, Martha Lansdowne and Eleanor Erhardt were the powers at the plate for the Aces, hitting three - for - four.

Legion Battlers Win LL's Crown

The Legion Little Leaguers hit off winning pitcher Ron came through in never-say-die fashion last night, to win the LL crown in a hair-breadth, come-back victory, 13-12, over Willow Inn.

Biggest fly in the Legion's outfit was LL's home run king, Allan Edmunds of the Willows, who clouted a grand slam home in the top of the fifth, and made things look black for the Legions.

Coach Jack Travis kept quiet, by boosting his club's morale, however, and they started a final-inning comeback that threw off the loss and spelt victory.

Besides Edmund's grand slam, the Willows managed nine hits off winning pitcher Ron came through in never-say-die fashion last night, to win the LL crown in a hair-breadth, come-back victory, 13-12, over Willow Inn.

Combination Shut-Out Wins Move Chisox Close To Top

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Two pitchers combining for a doubleheader shutout over one club is rare in itself. Occasionally it happens twice in one season.

But it happened twice in the American League Thursday night.

While Chicago's second-place White Sox moved to within one game of Cleveland by beating Indians 4-3, Baltimore's 20-year-old righthander, Milt Pappas and Jerry Walker, blanked Washington 8-0 and 5-0 in a two-night doubleheader. Kansas City's Ray

Craig Has Touch Again, Dodgers Tumble Braves

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Maybe you remember Roger Craig. He's the big righthander who made his rookie debut with Don Bessent in mid-1955 and gave the Dodgers a double lift to the National League pennant and their only world championship.

He won 12 in 1956, then lost the touch. So did Bessent, and they wound up in the minors.

Now Craig's back and he's got the touch again. Unbeaten, he won his fourth in a row Thursday night, with 11 innings of three-hit, shutout relief that paid off with a 4-3 Los Angeles victory in 13 innings over Milwaukee—tumbling the Braves from first to third and hoisting the Dodgers to second place.

Soo Club Axed By Pro League

SAULT STE. MARIE, Ont. (CP) — Promoters say the two-year-old Eastern Professional Hockey League presents too great a financial risk to this city's Greyhound club.

Sault Ste. Marie Greyhounds and their backers were hopeful Wednesday of joining the five-team minor pro circuit, formed from the ashes of the Quebec Hockey League and a wing of the Ontario Hockey Association.

But when the promoters here looked into travel and scheduling arrangements for the venture they had to back out—for now anyway.

So far Hull-Ottawa Canadiens and Kingston Merchants have joined the league from the OHA Eastern Division and Montreal Royals and Trois-Rivieres Lions from the QHL. Sault Ste. Marie was the OHA northern division as the Greyhounds last year, also were admitted.

Solons Sprints Used As Needed

By THE CANADIAN PRESS
Sacramento Solons are making the business of keeping atop the Pacific Coast League look easy.

Apparently content to keep a two-game cushion between themselves and their rivals, the Solons have been coasting along in a manner which suggests they play to win only when they have to, to keep that two-game margin intact.

Wednesday night Vancouver Mounties lost their game with Spokane. The Solons dropped their contest with San Diego.

Thursday night the Mounties trimmed Spokane's Indians 7-5. The Solons got busy and turned back the Pads 4-3 in 11 innings.

In other action, Portland Beavers edged Seattle Rainiers 3-1 and Phoenix Clowns banged out 14 hits in smothering Salt Lake City Bees 12-6.

JUDY GRABLE — BLONDE BOMBSHELL

Mayhem In Arena On Tap Tonight

Tonight's the night for mayhem in the Memorial Arena at 8 p.m.

Big Gene Kiniski, the king-size ex-footballer from Edmonton, will have an excellent opportunity to use all his rough tactics on Lou Thesz, former world champion, and a grappler who knows most of the answers.

Lightning fast action by two products of the Southland, Atlanta's Ethyl Johnson and Miami's Judy Grable is promised for one special event bout. Johnson, who wrestled here last month, is a supple ring athlete and her opponent is a lithe blond.

Young Hurler Has No-Mitter

RUTLAND — Wayne Horning was the hero of the semi-final game in the recent SOKM League tournament at Rutland, chucking a no-hit, no-run game against Lumby Loggers, setting them down 6-0 in the seven-inning contest.

In the course of the game only three Lumby players got on base, and none reached second base. Horning struck out eight opposing batters, and gave up only two walks.

The third Lumby player to reach first got there on a fielder's choice. The 16-year-old pitcher got stellar support from his team-mates. This is the second time this season that the Red Caps cut down the Loggers with a no-hit, no-run contest. Bruce Clement achieving this in the second game of the season, the score being 8-0.

Home Towner Seeking Crown

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — Don Jordan of Los Angeles risks his welterweight boxing crown tonight against an exuberant teenager who hopes to become the youngest fighter ever to win the title.

The challenger is 19-year-old Denny Meyer, who will be fighting before home town supporters in the scheduled 15-round outdoor bout at the Portland Meadows race track. He is ranked No. 5 contender by the National Boxing Association, No. 2 by Ring Magazine.

His uncle, Tommy Meyer, promoter for the bout, said he expects a gate of $100,000. Jordan said he has a guarantee of $70,000.

The fight will be on NBC television, starting at 7 p.m. PDT except for a 200-mile area around Portland. Clear and warm weather was forecast.

AL To Open Late In 1960 Season

CHICAGO (AP) — The American League will open its 1960 baseball season one week later than the National League, it was announced Thursday.

After a four-hour meeting, the American League announced it will open its season April 19 and close Oct. 2.

The National League immediately announced an April 12 opening next year and a similar Oct. 2 closing date.

Ti-Cats Gather Three Holdouts

HAMILTON (CP) — Hamilton Tiger-Cats of the Big Four Football League Thursday announced signing of flanker Tommy Grant, linebacker Harry Lumpman and end Billy Graham for next season. All three are Canadian holdovers.

MONTREAL (CP) — Francois Godbout of Waterloo, Que., won two games Thursday as trials continued for two positions on Canada's 1959 Davis Cup tennis team.

Godbout, upset Wednesday by John Bassett of Toronto, defeated Montreal's Andre Toupin, 10-8, 6-4, then disposed of Vancouver's Rieder 6-4, 6-4.

Gabby Took Five, Returns To Fold

Gabby's back, and the sun is dim view of a punishment run after the other hot and hungry players had left the field, but coach Wayne Robinson backed up Ken Snyder in sending him around for a final lap.

These were two of the juiciest items for an otherwise hungry press corps as the B.C. Lions sweated through their fourth day of summer training in City Park Oval yesterday.

A bit of a tiff died an early death as star Paul Cameron, de-throned backfielder-turned end in this year's grid picture, took a fourth child.

Bucs Swap Lefties With Farm Outfit

talked to him about displaying increased qualities of leadership. "Gabby" ended conjecture by returning to camp last night.

Meanwhile trainer John Dickey and assistant Stan Wilson carried the one-gallon jug of sunburn lotion at the ready, as the Leos went through pass protection drills under the blazing sun, with brief shorts on their undercarriages and full gear up top.

Cameron's shift to the end position is part of Robinson's plan for a speedy backfield, which has two fleet candidates in Willie "Pittin'" Fleming and Freddie Ford, as well as a chunky pile-driver, Ken Hall. Fleming is the lowa flash with the twinkling pins, considered to be one of the best at the light tug of the pigskin.

One of Cameron's chief stumbling-blocks, however, in the end department, is craggy Bill Jessup, veteran of NFL service with the San Francisco 49ers, and a real handy man with his hands.

But there's many a slip, and the Leos have seven more days before the inter-quack climax, next Saturday.

Robinson said he had simply

Barber Whipped By Tiny Flash

BRANTFORD, Ont. (CP) — A 100-pound American girl, appearing as if a slight ripple on the water would submerge her, took just 45 minutes to show tournament-hardened Canadian swimmers that things will be mighty tough in the Aug. 27-Sept. 14 Pan-American Games in Chicago.

Unheralded and practically unknown in these parts, 14-year-old Deirdre Rhoads from Philadelphia whipped Canadian champion Sara Barber of Brantford in two events of the opening day's program of the three-day Canadian amateur swimming and diving championships Thursday night.

In each case she rubbed it in by breaking the Ontario girl's Canadian records. The attractive black-haired Philadelphian, making her first appearance in international competition, stole the show from a field of nearly 160 swimmers, mainly from Ontario and the eastern states.

She clipped nearly 11 seconds from Miss Barber's Canadian native record of 6:14.1 to win the women's 440 - yard individual medley and in less than an hour returned to smash the 220 - yard free-style record in 2:31.5.

Susan Doerr of Philadelphia, also 14, clocked the same time but the judges ruled that Miss Rhoads touched first. Miss Barber, who set the record of 2:35.1 last month, was third with 2:32.0.

Free-Lance Missionary To Sail To Fiji Isles

VANCOUVER (CP) — Rodney Wesley Garrett, free lance missionary, is now owner and skipper of the yawl Southern Cross II and soon will be sailing under canvas to Fiji.

For 16 years the husky Australian has nursed an ambition to do marine missionary work. Seeking a suitable vessel, he came to Vancouver three years ago.

To support his wife and four children, he sold life insurance and saved enough to buy the Southern Cross. He hopes to sail to the Fiji Islands in August.

If enough money is available, he will send his family ahead by liner, but if necessary he will take them with him in the little craft.

The vessel has an all-welded steel hull and was built in Vancouver in 1947. She is 44 feet long with a beam of 11 feet, seven inches.

She has a 35-foot spruce mainmast and an 18-foot six-inch mizzen and can carry 519 square feet of canvas. There is sleeping accommodation for six and a new 10-horsepower auxiliary diesel engine and two new sets of sails.

Unsurprisingly by any church or sect, Mr. Garrett has personally raised the funds for the venture with the help of friends.

He has a first-aid certificate and plans to give medical aid to islanders in remote atolls. He will carry a radio-telephone.

He has some practical knowledge of navigation, having spent 12 years at sea including 18 months in small boats off the New Guinea coast.

People's Mission Bible Camp Opens

The annual Bible camp for the People's Mission will be held this year from July 28 to August 3 at Wood Lake.

The camp is for children over eight years old through teen age.

A new "camp program" is being presented this year, prepared especially for the camp. Three specific age groups are involved in the plan, which includes Bible study, sports and handicrafts. Public services will be held each evening during the camp, with Rev. D. Buhler, Th.D. ministering. Approximately 135 children were registered last year to attend the Wood Lake site.

GOOD NEWS OF THE AIN CKOV—MONDAY, 8 P.M.

Baptist Leader Surprised Man

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—Rev. Richard Debell, 23, is a shaken man.

About 150 Baptist ministers applied for his job in three days. They did so in answer to an advertisement that ran under Debell's name.

The pastor says he did not place the ad and did not know who did. He does not need an assistant and hopes to stay several more years at Gethsemane Baptist Church.

There will be a Ukrainian Greek Orthodox Church service Sunday at 10 a.m. in the Ukrainian Cultural Society Hall. Dinner will be served later.

James Clement will be the special speaker Sunday morning at First Baptist Church. In the evening, the young people who attended the Baptist Youth Fellowship conference at Calgary will re-cap the highlights of the meeting. One of these highlights was the presentation of a cheque for $3500 for the purchase of a medical jeep for Rev. Walter Johnson, a Canadian Baptist missionary in Angola.

Pastor Herman Epp, of the Christ Lutheran Church has returned from the annual conference of the Canada district of the American Lutheran Church in Regina.

Rt. Rev. Phillip Beattie, Bishop of the Kootenay Diocese has been chosen as a delegate to the World Council of Churches in Athens, Greece in August.

ARDENT KELOWNA layman, aiding the work of religion in this district is Carl Schmok (above) son of the late Rev. E. Schmok of Christ Lutheran church. Mr. Schmok recently attended a Lutheran layman's conference in Regina. (Courier photo)

Under this legislation, maximum government mortgage loans to farmers are increased to $20,000 from the existing $15,000 and mortgages can be made on up to 75 per cent of the value of a farm instead of 65 per cent as now.

Most criticism of the crop insurance bill was based on contentions that the federal government is not contributing enough money to the plan and that it has not had sufficient consultations with the provinces and farm organizations.

Both the Liberals and the CCF called for further study. CCF House Leader Hazen Argue labelled the government's procedure "arbitrary" and as putting a gun to the head of the provinces.

EXPAND FARM CREDIT After the debate on crop insurance, which took up most of the sitting, the Commons sat 53 minutes past its regular adjournment hour of 10 p.m. to give unanimous second reading to a government bill expanding farm credit.

Agriculture Minister Harkness' bill to protect farmers against bad crop years met with general approval in principle, but the Liberals and CCF were critical of the way the government went about putting the plan into effect.

All but third reading, usually a formality, remained after the Commons voted 151 to 0 to give the bill second reading—approval in principle—on a government-forced head count.

Mr. Harkness told the House it is the government's intention to proclaim the insurance bill "quite rapidly" when regulations are established.

It was estimated one billion dollars worth of churches would be built in 1959, including these religious buildings erected in the next ten years.

It was revealed in the conference that Gothic, Roman and Colonial designs for church buildings are in the minority. Ninety eight per cent of the new churches are of modern design.

The Assemblies of God, (Pentecostal) with headquarters in Springfield, Mo., are in the 45th year of their existence.

They now have 8,000 churches, and 14,000 ministers. Their membership, exceeding one million contributed in 1958 a per capita average of over $5 for missions, including radio work. Their publishing house is valued at $3,000,000 and their administration building, now under construction will cost about the same. Their church periodical, "The Pentecostal Evangel," has a circulation of 164,000 weekly.

Other officers elected at the association's biennial meeting in Port Hope, Ont., during the weekend, were:

BANK ROBBERS BUSY WASHINGTON (AP) — Bank robbers were busier last year than in any year in history, the FBI reported today. The record, for the fiscal year ended June 30, showed 761 violations of the federal bank robbery law. They included 445 robberies, 233 burglaries and 88 larcenies.

The Southern Baptist Church has sent an evangelistic team of 79 on an evangelistic crusade that will include Palestine and also the Soviet Union. The team includes some prominent lay leaders of the church.

look at the S. M. Simpson Trophy held by tournament committee member Don Day. ON THE RIGHT, hockey's famous Bathgate, Andy, chats

STORM CUTS OFF JAPAN

TOKYO (AP)—Japan was virtually cut off from the outside world for more than two hours today when a gigantic magnetic storm interrupted all overseas sea to radio links. The only commercial channel operating was a Danish-owned cable running under the sea to Siberia and across to Europe.

Sunshine, Tricky Greens Greet 'Pogo Contestants

Searing sunshine and tricky greens greeted the 1959 competitors in Kelowna's eighth Ogopogo Open Golf Tournament yesterday.

With the first 18 holes of match play under their belts, John Russell and Doug Bajus of Point Grey Golf Club are in the lead among the amateurs, with Trail's Roy Stone setting a sizzling pace among the pros.

Russell and Bajus, playing in the same foursome, went out in 37 and 35, with Bajus up, and came home in 34 and 36, with Russell taking the bow, giving each of them a 71, one under par score for the 18, a reasonably healthy mark considering the trickiness of the greens.

NUDED RECORD

Stone, one of the curling-famous B.C. brothers, went out in 24 and back in 32 for a gross of 66, one more than the course record set by Vancouver's Bill Thompson in winning last year's Ogopogo.

Johnny Johnston of Vancouver, perennial Willingdon Cupper, was hot on the trail of Russell and Bajus, with 35-37 for 72, but Russell's two handicap gave him the low net of the trio, 69.

Penticton's Bill Vatzell, recent winner of the Commercial Travellers' tourney here and the Pacific North West invitational in Omak, went out in 36, but fell down coming home, with 41, to gross 77 and net 69. His score, however, was ahead of defending low interior amateur champion, Moe Young of Kelowna, who scored a 78, 72.

Hockey's Andy Bathgate, playing out of Glen Oaks Club, carded 38 out and 37 home tying him with William Beetlestone of New Westminster, playing out of Vancouver Golf Club, who reversed Bathgate's score, 37-38 for 75.

SUNK FIRST ACE

Biggest thrill of the day came to Air Commodore B. F. "Johnny" Johnson of Shaughnessy Golf Club, when he sunk his first hole-in-one, playing on the 180-yd. third hole. Everything else was anti-climaxed for Johnny, who scored a gross 85.

A burnished sky and temperatures soaring in the upper 80's, kept the water taps busy, and the busy scoring and starting crew, under Gordon Smith, kept the foursomes rolling out on time for close to seven hours.

Following the return of the final foursomes last night, the competitors tied into a sumptuous barbecue dinner, hosted by the Ogopogo Tournament Committee of the Kelowna Golf and Country Club.

The early birds took off at 8:00 this morning, and the final quartet took off at 2:52, for the second round of match play.
